Foreword

On the pages of this, our 1954 edition of "Goshen Memories," we have recorded many everyday and thrilling experiences. The fellowship in classes of friends, tried and true.....hard but unfailing work on the annual.....chapel programs, which incidentally, require work.....teachers and pupils working hand in hand.....grades and final exams.....hard fighting basketball teams, fighting for victory.....the safety patrol, guiding young feet home at the end of a busy day.....All these events that will too soon become memories.....unforgetable and happy memories! We send out this annual knowing that we shall.....

".....throughout the years that transpire
Hold thy memory dear."

Dedication

MRS. W. B. MOORE

Because of her understanding and thoughtfulness, because of her interest in and unselfish devotion to each of us, and because she has always striven to instill in us worthy principles and high ideals; we, the Seniors, dedicate to Mrs. W. B. Moore this, our 1954 "Goshen Memories," as a symbol of our respect, affection, and gratitude.

In Memoriam

MRS. A. L. PARRENT

Forgive our grief for one removed,
Thy creature, whom we found so fair.
We trust she lives in thee, and there
We find her worthier to be loved.

Seniors

Valedictorian

ELIZABETH ANN WITHROW
"Libby"

Elizabeth Ann is one of our prettiest girls. She has a sweet disposition and a friendly manner that makes her popular with the students and faculty alike. She is also one of our smartest students and a leader in all our school activities.

Salutatorian

CHARLOTTE DILL
"Pickle"

Charlotte's snappy eyes and light hair will be remembered by all of her classmates. She is dependable, capable, and ever willing to meet the hardest task with a smile; and deeds once accomplished only seem to spur her on to greater ones.

WILLIAM HOSTETTER, JR.
"Junior"

Junior, an athlete, has shown his ability in playing ball throughout his four years of high school. His playing has displayed such ability that we are led to believe that success will be attained in whatever interest he may cultivate in life beyond school days. If talent is applied, we perhaps might find him some time in the near future that successful contractor which he would love so much to be.

Class Prophecy

Everyone has heard of a telescope, a microscope and even cinemascope, but how many have ever heard of a futurescope? This unique invention of science was unknown to me, until a few weeks ago when I had the privilege of visiting one of the largest planetariums in the East. I was so fascinated by the predictions of this instrument that I released all my charms upon its demonstrator and secured the use of the futurescope for fifteen minutes. Could I solve my problem of class prophet in so short a time? Nothing like trying!

Lest one precious moment should slip by forever lost to posterity, I seized the instrument with both hands and screamed into the mouthpiece the names of my classmates, one by one. To my amazement I was in a well-appointed office-room in downtown New York. Behind the desk sat an efficient looking executive whose face seemed familiar. Could that be Junior Hostetter, the boy whom I sat behind my senior year in high school? It was he, all right-the president of one of the largest contracting firms in the United States. A slight shift of the futurescope displayed a neat, attractive blond on his right. Her face, too, looked familiar and no wonder! It was our own Betty Van Buren, who had sat across the aisle from me our last year at G. H. S. She was trying to contact one of their branch offices. Just then the futurescope made the connection and I beheld a similar office in Chicago. The well-groomed, efficient young lady receiving the message was none other than Charlotte Dill. In clear pleasant tones she was relaying Betty's message to her manager. An order simply had to go through to their factory. Flash! And whom did I see on the receiving end this time? Our patient and dependable Clain Powell, who was now at the head of the order department of one of the largest factories in Detroit.

I glanced at my watch. Two thirds of my time was gone! I simply had to hurry if I were to find out what had happened to Elizabeth Ann and to learn something of my own future.

Almost instantly I was in the nation's capitol, leaning against the railing in the balcony of the Library of Congress and looking down at the busy throng below. A tall, slender girl moved methodically among the stacks, gleaning information here and there for Congressmen and students at their desks. Why it really was Elizabeth Ann! Her hopes and dreams at last were realized!

Less than two minutes left! What could I learn of myself in that time? The futurescope glowed as it had never glowed before! I saw a little white cottage nestled in the hills of my native Rockbridge County. A smiling mother stood in the doorway waving good-by to two happy youngsters on their way to school. Just then the instrument became a mirror, and my own image was reflected from that doorway! Could this be my future? I had always heard this was the greatest career a woman could have and why should I wish for more? Gong! GG went the bell on the corridor clock. My time was up!

Reluctantly, I stepped from my position before the futurescope- a wiser and more thoughtful senior of 1954.

Class History

In 1951 we entered the freshman class with fifteen members who soon caught on to the busy ways of high school life.

The following year we lost six of our members, but we were joined by Billy Tolley and Junior Hostetter, giving us an enrollment of eleven.

In our junior year we only had nine members to carry on. That year we presented a play, ''The Signing of the Constitution'', during Constitution Week. We dressed up in colonial costumes and wore wigs. Clain Powell took part in "Pride and Prejudice," the Senior Play. The girls acted as ushers and danced the minuet. The entire class took part in three one-act plays, presented by the high school. That same year we ordered our class rings, which made us very happy, but we were sorry to lose Billy Tolley, James Wright and Ellen Bayne bringing our enrollment back down to seven.

This year we began with seven members, but by the end of the first six weeks we had lost Marie Burke.

Class History

We entered the freshman class in the fall of '49. We had sixteen members and soon caught on to the busy activities of high school.

By the time we were sophomores we had lost one of our members, but George Brown joined us restoring our enrollment to sixteen. We all took Latin and joined the Wood Chapter of the Junior Classical League. We received our pins and took part in classical programs.

But the fall of '53 has been our busiest time in school. Some of us have been working hard on the year book staff; some on basketball; and others are members of the safety patrol. Our efforts have all been worthwhile; some of us have even been rewarded with invitations to the Beta Club. We are ten jolly juniors - happy because we have ordered our class rings and are looking forward to our senior year when we will be the "grand ole seniors."

Class History

In the beginning of our junior high year there were nineteen boys and twelve girls starting with us, with Mr. Wilhelm as teacher. In the eighth grade we started with eleven boys and eleven girls under Mrs. Guinn. By the time we reached our Freshman year we had four boys and ten girls with Mrs. Moore as teacher. Our Sophomore year began with one boy and eight girls of our original number. However, we added George Brown and Douglas Gentry to our number, mak - ing eleven pupils in all.

Class History

In the beginning of our junior high year there were nine girls and fifteen boys with Mrs. John Walker as teacher. In the eighth grade we had nine girls and eleven boys with Mrs. Guinn as home room teacher. Now we are freshmen and how happy we are! There are six girls and six boys with Mrs. Moore as home room teacher.

We are participating in the Glee Club, 4-H Club, Beta Club, and Scholastic Clubs and some of us are on the basketball team.
